BEAUTIFUL NORMAL GIRLS.

Two Hundred and Sixty-five of Them Graduate To-Day.

Thousands Attend the Commencement Exercises at the College.

The twenty-third annual Commencement exercises of the Normal College took place this morning in the College chapel, Sixty-eighth street and Fourth avenue. There was an attendance of about four thousand. The exercises elicited frequent applause.

The salutatorian was Miss Henrietta Rothen. The valedictory was delivered by Miss Lina Hall, who received 95.5-10 per cent., the highest grade obtained by any student in the history of the college.

The feature of the day was the conferring of the degree of Bachelor of Arts upon fifty of the 265 graduates. This degree had never before been granted by the Normal College.

The following are the prizes granted this morning:

Kane gold medal for Penmanship—Harriet Gresham, Honorable mention—Kate H. Hart, Gretchen Scherzer.

Also silver medal for methods of teaching—Sadie Levy, Honorable mention—Harriet Rothen and Mary D. Kline.

Gold medal for methods of teaching—Katherine L. Hart, Honorable mention—Alice Hart and Anna M. Schlesinger.

Other prizes for proficiency in German—Harriet Rothen, Honorable mention—Ottoendorfer Silver Medal for Greatest Progress in German—Cornelia Engelsbach, Honorable mention—Kate H. Hart, Honorable mention—Alice Hart.

First gold medal for Latin—Carla Blum, Honorable mention—Kate L. Hart and Harriet Rothen.

Miss Clara Williams's second prize, Clara Blum.

The Board of Trustees offered the following scholarships:

For men in training—George Scott, Levy, George Miller, John H. Allen, Andrew Miller, Gertrude Carlson, Racine Levy, Anna G. Pelt, Anna Korn, Daisy R. Appell, Battie E. Miller, Addie L. Moore.

For work in the Normal College Department, upon Agnes T. Ross, Mary Dean Knox, Katherine T. Halpin, Ethel Clark, Annie Krause, Elizabeth A. Eggen.

Class A—5 came for the highest honors, thirty-eight out of the fifty members giving the average of more than 90% each.

The average of the class in mathematics was equal to that of the other classes of Harvard and Yale, and, although the class in mathematics was reckoned as high a percentage as that of the highest, these latter colleges, the general average of the Normal students was considerably better.

The Normal girls were elegantly decorated with the national and college colors, the latter being lavender and white.

The most students occupied seats in front of the platform, while others were seated with the rest of the Faculty and the Commissioners of the Board of Education.

It was a memorable sight. Hundreds of
